School Fight Brings Fine, Jail Term

Girl Is Turned Over to Moniteau County Welfare

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Mrs. Mary L. Schoenheit of Centertown, Mo., went to jail in her fight against public school education.

The Moniteau County magistrate, W. G. Heidbreder, said he found the woman guilty of "neglecting and refusing without good cause," to send her 7-year-old daughter, Mary, to class.

He fined her $5 and sentenced her to 10 days in jail.

Her daughter, Mary, was turned over to the Moniteau County Welfare Department.

Mrs. Schoenheit has bristled against any formal education for her daughter because, she said, schools just make "trained seals" out of children. She told newsmen she is providing the youngster with an education equal to or better by tutoring her each morning.

Magistrate Heidbreder said the woman would have to prove to him her instruction is "substantially equivalent" to that available in school.

William Cheney, an Eldon, Mo., teacher of high school English, faces similar arrest.

Cheney and his wife, a former teacher, have refused to let their 7-year-old daughter, Stephanie, attend the rural Rock Island School for fear she will fall in a storm cave on the grounds.

A conference yesterday failed to develop a solution.

The school board said the cave would have to remain open because it is needed as an emergency shelter in case of a severe storm.

Cheney plans to keep blonde Stephanie at home where his wife will continue her strict instruction period from 9 a. m. to 3:45 p. m. each school day.

Cheney said "this thing has blown away out of proportion," but that he intends to see the school is made safe or his youngster will stay home. He said the studies his wife is providing for Stephanie are just what had been recommended by the county school superintendent.

Warrensburg Plans Memorial Statue To Famous Dog Case

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP)—This town plans a statue to "Old Drum," the hound who inspired a famous speech in 1870 by Sen. George Graham Vest of Missouri. The Chamber of Commerce has started a campaign to raise $2,500 for it.

Vest's famous tribute to dogs was delivered in a damage suit in which he represented a man whose dog had been shot by a neighbor in Warrensburg. The jury deliberated two minutes and awarded Vest's client $500.

A bronze plaque will carry Vest's declaration that:

"A dog is the one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him and the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous."

Completed In One Day--

Neighbors Clear 90 Acres Of Corn For Injured Man

A week ago Glenn Chamberlin of the Range Line Church neighborhood had the misfortune of suffering severe injuries to his left wrist, so severe his left hand had to be amputated. In Fitzgibbon Hospital in Marshall, his worries over getting in his 1956 corn harvest were quickly erased this Tuesday when the entire 90 acres were cleared by his friends and neighbors.

Chamberlin with his son, Jason R. Chamberlin, are farming 30 acres on his own farm, 50 acres on the farm of his father, Jason Chamberlin, and ten acres on Frank Hieronymus' farm. They had started to harvest the crop last week when the picker became jammed and he tried to free it. Reaching into the machine, his left wrist was caught and badly mangled.

He was taken to Fitzgibbon Hospital, and the hand had to be amputated. Although he didn't say too much about his own injury, he was worried over how his son would get in the crop. His worrying was all unnecessary, because as soon as the word got around about his accident, Junior Sellers called on a few neighboring farmers and enlisted their aid.

Then Sunday, while attending church, they in turn told their neighbors and friends. The harvest date was set for Tuesday, October 16, for a mass move into the fields.

There were 13 tractors with pickers or combination tractor and picker machines which started down the corn rows of the three fields. There were other tractors pulling wagons, and three elevators leading into the large barn on the Jason Chamberlin farm were kept steadily running.

But that wasn't the big push. There were 52 friends and neighbors who joined the two sons of Glenn in getting the corn. The army of men and equipment were not long in getting the work finished—it was all through by 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and the men dispersed and returned to their own farms to catch up with their own chores.

It was estimated there was more than $150,000 worth of equipment in tractors, picking machines, elevators and wagons on the project at one time.

The men all brought their lunches and took turns in taking time off to eat, the machinery not getting any rest until the job was completed. They left the large barn bulging with an estimated 5,400 bushels of corn. It was believed the crop averaged out a little better than 60 bushels to the acre, with the big field on Glenn's father's farm doing a little better than the others.

As the job was completed and the farmers began pulling away with their tractors, wagons, pickers and elevators, Jason R. and his brother, Melton Chamberlin, stood by thanking them.

"Please express our appreciation for all that has been done," Jason asked a newspaper reporter. "Words can hardly express how grateful Mother and Dad and we are over this wonderful community help we have received. I don't know how I could have done it alone," he concluded.

These men had tractors and pickers in the field: Joe Bill Reed, Dave Walk, Junior Sellers, Henry and Reed Schondelmeyer, Forrest Reed, Barney E. Walker, Clinton Lowrey, Dan Smith, Wilburn Hayes, Harold Williams, Earl Gregory, Bruce Claycomb's unit operated by Cecil Sleeper and Jason Chamberlin.

Men who had tractors, wagons and elevators were: Jim Houchen, Archie Shireman, Dewitt Phillips, Bill Reid, A. P. Reid, Melton Chamberlin, Jim Montgomery, Jimmy Reid, Frank Norfleet, Walter Foley, Clinton Reid, Broadus Wiley, Wilbur Alexander, Rodney Alexander, Junior Reid, Rollie and Otis Thomas, Les Gray, C. Treece, Dorsey Adams, William Tobin, Lewis R. Montgomery, Irvin Robb, Billy Smith, Davis Robb, Claude Rayle, Lee Stevenson, Edward Dirck, Phil Montgomery, Edwin Kerr, Marion Houchen, Harry Simmons, Jim O. Coffelt, J. D. Gregory, John Gray, Willie Hill, the Rev. Charles Robinson, Phillip McCorkle, and Leonard Miller.

Missouri Has 48 Projects Under US Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Missouri had 48 hospital and medical projects with a total cost of $53,211,000 under construction, initially approved or in operation as of July 31, under the federal aid program. The federal share amounts to $20,178,000.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare reports that of the total number of such projects in the state, 13 were in operation July 31. Their total cost was $17,802,000, of which the federal share amounted to $7,141,000.

Thirty-five projects with a total cost of $35,409,000, of which the federal share is $13,044,000, were listed under construction.

Since 1947, the report shows, federal allotments to Missouri for construction or improvement of hospitals and medical facilities have amounted to $25,058,309. The allotment for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957, is $2,937,285—the second largest since the program was started. In 1950, the state was allotted $4,340,000.

The report shows that of the $2,937,285 total for the current year $2,544,117 is for hospitals, $116,033 for diagnostic or treatment facilities, $116,033 for chronic disease facilities, $90,551 for rehabilitation facilities and $90,551 for nursing homes.

State or local interests furnish much of the construction or remodeling costs.

Under construction on June 30, according to the report, were hospital and medical projects of various types in Albany, Cameron, Cape Girardeau, Chillicothe, Columbia, Excelsior Springs, Festus, Fulton, Hannibal, Hillsboro, Independence, Joplin, Kansas City, Louisiana, Marshall, Mexico, Milan, Mount Vernon, North Kansas City, Richmond, Springfield, St. Louis and Trenton.

Ben-Gurion Warns Against Possible Attack by Egypt

His Speech Winds Up Three-Day Debate in Israeli Parliament; His Declarations Are Approved

JERUSALEM (AP)—Premier David Ben-Gurion declared today the greatest danger facing Israel is a possible attack by the "Fascist dictator of Egypt."

Winding up a three-day foreign policy debate in the Israeli Parliament, the 70-year-old government chief said developments of the past few days in the bitter Israel-Jordan border conflict appeared favorable. But he warned against "premature optimism."

At the end of the speech, Parliament approved his foreign policy declarations 76-13.

The right-wing nationalists' Herut party, which advocates a "preventive war" against the Arabs, and the Communists voted against the government policy.

Menahem Begin, Herut leader, yesterday charged Ben-Gurion with having failed to take advantage of Egyptian and Jordan weakness in the past.

A government spokesman said Israel is protesting to the U. N. Security Council that Jordan attacks since the cease-fire agreement of last April had resulted in 37 Israelis killed and 45 wounded.

Ben-Gurion said of Egypt's President Nasser:

"We must know who is our most dangerous enemy—the dictator of Egypt who rules his country by force, who wants to rule all Arab countries by force and who does not hide his intention to destroy Israel by force."

Ben-Gurion repeated his warning that Israel reserves freedom of action if Iraqi troops enter Jordan. Such a step, he maintained, would violate the status quo of the Israel-Jordan armistice of 1949.

"If we are attacked, we will take the fight over to the other side," he said.

In Cairo, the newspaper Al Shaab quoted the Egyptian army's commander in chief, Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, as saying Egypt would intervene if Jordan or any other Arab state was invaded.

Israel has denied Arab charges she is massing troops on Jordan's frontier and labeled the accusation a screen to mask Jordan's own military activities.

A Jordan Foreign Ministry spokesman first leveled the charge in Amman, declaring that Israel was concentrating troops on the border with "aggressive intentions."

Later Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar called together the Western Big Three's ambassadors in Damascus and told them Syria considered the reported Israeli moves a threat to Middle Eastern peace.

Bitar told the envoys he hoped the Big Three would make a stand "which saves the Middle East from a new explosion, and makes Israel refrain from carrying out further peace-menacing adventures."

A spokesman for the Israeli government brushed aside the troop concentration charge.

Tax Trials May Have Influence on Powell's Switch to Eisenhower

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Democratic Rep. Adam Powell's recent endorsement of President Eisenhower may have been influenced by federal tax trials involving his secretaries, says Paul Butler.

Powell, a Negro, switched his support to Eisenhower last week, saying he was dissatisfied with the Democrats' stand on civil rights.

New York Democratic Negro leaders said at the time that Powell acted because of White House pressure in the tax cases, but Powell denied it.

At a press conference yesterday Butler said:

"The circumstances support the inference that Powell was influenced to endorse Ike through a belief that he might get a break on the tax evasion cases."

Eisenhower Orders His Top Officials To Clarify Record On H-Bomb Testing

SEATTLE (AP)—President Eisenhower today directed top administration officials to prepare a new reply to Adlai Stevenson's proposal that efforts be made to halt H-bomb testing.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference here that Eisenhower believes that Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, made "incorrect statements" in his speech on that subject Monday night.

"We are going to set the record straight," Hagerty said.

In his Monday evening campaign address, Stevenson said if elected, "I would count it the first order of business" to try for world agreement to terminate H-bomb testing.

The Democratic candidate added that he would strive for such agreement with Russia and Great Britain, the only other nation in the H-bomb field.

Only last Thursday Eisenhower said at a Washington news conference that he had uttered his "last word" on the Stevenson proposal to end H-bomb testing.

Reminded of that today, Hagerty replied:

"We believe incorrect statements have been made and we are going to set the record straight."

The press secretary said Eisenhower feels that since Stevenson has raised the matter again and "made what we believe to be rather extraordinary statements," there should be a new administration reply.

For that reason, Hagerty added, Eisenhower has called on Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; Secretary of Defense Wilson and Secretary of State Dulles to prepare what Hagerty termed "a complete history in this field."

Eisenhower turned his campaign today to Washington's nine electoral votes with an aide picturing him as optimistic about chances of carrying Minnesota.

Commission Calls for Bids On Road Work

The work includes grading, bridging and laying of two 24-foot wide portland cement concrete pavements, along with necessary sanitary sewers and water main. Television Official Speaks To Sorosis Club Meeting

"This Thing Called Television" was the subject on which G. B. Paxton, KOMU-TV, Columbia, talked Monday afternoon at Sorosis.

Television programming is in three categories, Paxton said: first, network; second, films; and third, live programs. There are three major networks, NBC, CBS and ABC, and television stations sometimes have more than one network. When it comes to films, he said, Hollywood has to watch its box office. He went on to tell how the films were purchased in packages in which there would be well over 1,000 features. Out of that, he said, are 100, at best, pretty good films.

The dull scenes are cut out. You can't look through the entire film to see if any scenes have been damaged and so sometimes damaged scenes get in.

The live programs, the speaker said, are extremely involved and the costs are high. Smaller stations like KOMU-TV have three cameras, with two cameras in use most of the time. These cameras, as well as all other equipment, are expensive. There are two cameramen, and an average station has at least two other men, a technical director, who wears a head set and keeps giving directions, and a floor director who also wears a head set. There must be someone to operate the lights, too, he said. There is the cue man, also, who holds up signs and gives the cue of how much time there is left.

For the wire service and news-cast, the script writing takes from three to five hours, Paxton stated. It is easy to see how involved a live program would be and that the smaller stations could not attempt live drama.

Of the films there are about 1,000 feet a week. The film must be spliced and has to be cued so the projectionist knows where to start and stop.

The advantage of network, the speaker said, is the great names in radio and television coverage. Television is rather a new media, and the film industry felt the effect. They have come up with many new things, but today they have decided that if you can't beat them, join them, and television now has better films.

The radio without the phonograph would be nothing, Paxton said, and the same is true with television without films. The film industry is making hay because a Gene Autry film costs $115 per film. To this is added many other costs of presenting the program.

The sponsors pick the program that have the greatest appeal to the public. "Why do you have so much hill billy music?" Paxton says people are always asking, and he explains it by saying that the hill billy fans write in all the time asking for favorite numbers.

Other people don't write in requests or fan mail for programs as much and therefore when a sponsor sees all the mail for the hill billy program he wants to pay for programs that seem to have a following. Sponsors like to pick a spot just before or after a favorite program such as "I Love Lucy," the speaker said.

Television is too much the same pattern as radio, Paxton said; certainly television can find something new. It is always looking for talent and new ideas.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. George T. Lockett, civics chairman. Mrs. William Gibson, first vice-president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Harold Dean.

Miss Kathryn Spangler, current topics chairman, announced the speaker for next week will be Dr. Roscoe L. Pullen, dean of the School of Medicine, University of Missouri, Columbia. There will be a luncheon.

Kefauver Takes Attack on Ike To Midwest Area

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver carried his attack on what he called President Eisenhower's "broken promises" into the Midwest today for two days of campaigning across Missouri and Kansas.

Navy Gives Contract For Start of Atomic Powered Missile Ship

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy has authorized the drafting of plans for this country's first atomic-powered surface ship, a 14,000-ton guided missile cruiser.

It sent the Bethlehem Steel Co. a preliminary contract yesterday authorizing the firm to take the first steps leading to construction of the 700-foot craft at Bethlehem's yards in Quincy, Mass.

The Navy has said it expects the vessel to cost about $7½ million dollars, including its nuclear power plant. The Westinghouse Electric Corp. has been awarded a contract to build the ship's reactor for $18,335,000.

paing across Missouri and Kansas.

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate arrived here by chartered plane from New York City, where he belabored the Eisenhower administration in a nationwide television broadcast last night.

"Under the Eisenhower-Nixon administration," he said, "more heads of government agencies have been involved in corruption than under any administration since the Republican administration of Gen. Grant."

Quoting from Eisenhower's speeches of the 1952 presidential campaign, he charged the administration with failure to live up to its pledges on farm prices, taxes, cost of living, labor and atomic energy.

"In 1952 and ever since," he said, "Mr. Eisenhower has promised everything to everybody. But he has given everything to the privileged few."

Today Kefauver headed his campaign entourage from St.

Louis to St. Joseph, Mo., for a speech and conference with Democratic leaders, and thence to Springfield for an evening speech at the Shrine Auditorium. Tomorrow he flies to Joplin, and then heads into Kansas.

His Thursday schedule calls for a speech from the Kansas statehouse steps at Topeka in the afternoon and a night rally at Garden City.

Drops Money in Mail Box With Her Letters

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Miss Vicki Gregg had to mail some letters and make a night bank deposit after leaving her office last night.

When she got to the bank she realized she had dropped the deposit into the mailbox along with the letters.

The post office sent John F. Lau, a supervisor, to unlock the mailbox and retrieve the money for her.

Radio Interference Delays Rocket Test

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (AP)—Radio interference from taxicabs in North Carolina, an air base in Florida and missile proving grounds in New Mexico have delayed U.S. Army attempts to test-fire a high-altitude rocket here in the subarctic.

The test by the U.S. Ordnance Corps had been set for noon today. But the Signal Corps team found itself listening to taxicab messages from Ft. Bragg, N.C. Air Force signals from Florida and progress reports from the White Sands, N. M., rocket-proving grounds.

Miss Germany Is Selected Miss World

LONDON (AP)—Miss Germany, a green-eyed brunette who used to be a blonde, is the new Miss World.

For a moment Monday night it looked as if Miss United States, 20-year-old Betty Lane Cherry of Orangeburg, S.C., had won the 1956 international beauty title.

When the six finalists filed from the wings of a London theater for the announcement of the title winner, Miss Cherry wore a serene and confident look — plus a sash across her shoulders. The BBC announcer said:

"Oh, Miss United States seems to have won. She's got on the winner's sash."

A contest official quickly whipped the sash off Miss Cherry. "Sorry," the announcer said, "something seems to have happened."

The title was then awarded to the German entrant, 23-year-old Petra Schurmann. Miss Cherry was second in the competition among girls from 23 countries.

Miss Schurmann gasped and then almost swooned as she received the crown. Miss Cherry leaned over and kissed her.

A reporter asked: "As Miss Germany, shouldn't you be blonde?"

Petra lowered her long eye lashes.

"Frankly," she said, "I was a blonde."

A flowered print bathing suit set off Miss Germany's 36-20-33 figure — and her jet black curls.

Her ambition, she said, is to become a teacher of geography and a philosopher. She attends Cologne University.

Miss Cherry, also a student, took her loss philosophically.

"I was runner-up in the Miss U.S.A. contest," she said, "but two seconds don't make one first."

A hazel blonde, Miss Cherry is South Carolina's reigning maid of cotton. She was a symphony in a black bathing suit and black shoes.

Rina Weiss of Israel was third; Midori Tokura, Japan, fourth; Anne Rye Nielsen, Denmark, fifth and Eva Brann, Sweden, sixth.

The six finalists all received cash awards and silver trophies. The winner also won a red sports car.

Trapper's Guide

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Anyone who knew of eight-year-old Meil Carmean's ambition to become a beaver trapper might have surmised that his trip to the hospital was caused by a bout with a beaver.

Nope. It was a beaver trapper's beverage that laid Meil low. When he read that beaver trappers drank "castor bean oil," the boy went out and purchased a bottle of castor oil and a bottle of camphorated oil.

A few swigs later, Meil was in Toledo Hospital, being treated for an upset stomach.

Atom Exposure Of 10 Years Ago Fatal to Doctor

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Exposure to atomic radiation in a government laboratory between 8 and 10 years ago has taken the life of a Philadelphia physician, the city medical examiner said.

Medical Examiner Joseph W. Spelman issued his finding after an inquest into the death last July 24 of Dr. Kenneth A. Koerber, 50, of Philadelphia. Dr. Koerber had worked in the Atomic Energy Commission's Brookhaven National Laboratories, Upton, N.Y., between 1946 and 1948. He inspected laboratories to protect workers from radiation. "We presume," Dr. Spelman said, that Dr. Koerber somehow got a dose of atomic radiation which now, 10 years later, caused his death. We have conclusively proved that he was subject to atomic radiation or to the inhalation or to the eating of atomic compounds. At the present time his bones contain 1,000 times the maximum safe concentration of radiation."

Dr. Spelman said that from the time Dr. Koerber left Brookhaven until his death he was in failing health.

Reports from workers on the Distant Early Warning radar line which U. S. and Canadian governments are building is that teenage Eskimoes are now in the throes of rock 'n roll. They learn it from the U. S. workers' juke boxes.

Thorne Estate Files Suit Against Firm For Airplane Lights

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The estate of Joel W. Thorne has filed a half million dollar suit against Pacific Airmotive Corp., described as the company which attached special lights to Thorne's plane before it crashed into an apartment house here last October.

The suit said a set of rotating beacons attached to the plane by the company made Thorne dizzy and contributed to his loss of control of the plane on the night flight on which he died. The lights were installed for safety reasons, the suit said.

Eight occupants of the apartment house were killed.

Date Is Set For National Scout Meet

"Camp where Washington camped!" is the rallying call that will bring 50,000 Boy Scouts, Explorers, and their leaders from all parts of the nation to historic Valley Forge, Pennsylvania for their Fourth National Jamboree next July 12-18.

Valley Forge Park is owned, maintained, and preserved by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and managed by the Valley Forge Park Commission. They invited the Boy Scouts of America to hold their national jamboree there again.

The First National Jamboree in July 1937 found 27,232 Scouts and leaders camping in a 480-acre tent city on both sides of the Potomac River at Washington, D. C. In July, 1950, at the second jamboree, 47,163 Scouts and leaders camped at Valley Forge. The third jamboree in July 1953 saw 45,401 Scouts and leaders living together at the Irvine Ranch in southern California.

Thousands of Scouts will visit the nation's leading cities and scenic spots enroute to the jamboree camp or while homeward bound.

The railroads are providing special rates for jamboree campers and nearly 37,500 of them are expected to use about 100 special trains.

All Explorers and Boy Scouts at least 12 years old, of second class rank or higher are eligible to have had adequate camping experience to care for himself in the open and have a cooperative attitude towards his fellow Scouts and leaders.

To make certain that every eligible Scout and Explorer is given an opportunity to participate, the Lake of the Ozarks Council, Boy Scouts of America, has selected a special jamboree committee.

The Council administers the Boy Scout program in the following counties and townships:

Ira Mounts, president of the Lake of the Ozarks Council, announced the selection of George Sutherland, Marshall, as chairman. Working with him will be Harold Douglas, Marshall, Abe Silverman, Sedalia, Charles Bailey, Eldon, Russell Sexton, Jefferson City, and Denver Camden, Owensville. As previously announced, C. A. Phillips, Sedalia, will serve as Scoutmaster for the Lake of the Ozarks Council Jamboree Troop. Ray Dennis, Marshall, Edwin F. Ford, Eldon, and George Hucksstep, Jefferson City, will be the assistant Scoutmasters.

Reservations have been received in the Council office from Troop 41, Slater, Troop 65, Sedalia, Troop 14, Eldon and Troop 45, Marshall. A total of nine applications are on file — four reservations and five alternates.

The training committee, of which Charles Bailey, Eldon, is chairman, will arrange for the pre-jamboree training camp the contingent will attend for three days before starting for the jamboree.

With each participant paying his own way, the national jamboree helps develop self-reliance and self-support. Each one pays his own expenses although many deserving Scouts will be aided by their troop, by the troop's sponsoring institution and by service clubs, fraternal, business, civic and labor organizations. Many Scouts will earn funds by spare-time jobs. Some will serve as jamboree correspondents for home town newspapers, and radio and television stations.

Woman Missile Engineer Can't Fix Her Own Car

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP)—There is a young gal engineer here who holds down a top job in building America's guided missiles — but admits she can't fix her own motor car.

"I can change a tire," said Ruth Harlam, smiling. "But if anything goes wrong with the motor, I take it to the garage, just like everybody else."

The current national shortage of trained engineers has broken down much of the old antipathy against career women in this field. At 32, Miss Harlam, dark-haired and quietly attractive, is a rising slide rule princess of the atomic era.

She is a project supervisor in developing launching mechanisms for two key weapons in the nation's defense arsenal—the Talos and Bomarc guided missiles. She directs a staff of 23 male draftsman and engineers in the laboratory of the American Machine & Foundry Co.

It sounds like an unfeminine job, but Miss Harlam was advanced to it because of the outstanding work she did on such other unfeminine projects as a new howitzer, an anti-aircraft gun and a tank.

The gal is thoroughly feminine herself. She wears dresses in the laboratory, donning slacks only when her job sometimes makes them more practical. She likes to knit and would rather cook than eat out, eventually hopes to marry and have a family.

Miss Harlam, who was born in Berlin and came to this country in 1938, worked her way through college as a sewing machine operator. She speaks, writes and reads four languages, now is studying nights to win her doctorate in engineering.

"I got into this by accident," she recalled. "I started doing some tracing work for my brother who was studying drafting. But he wound up in sales work, and I ended up an engineer."

Miss Harlam blushed when asked if her knowledge of thermodynamics might operate as a barrier to romance by making her too critical of men, who are usually more thermal than dynamic.

"No, I don't think so," she said. "Men are human, after all, and not an engineering problem. There is no predictable scientific law on how two people fall in love."

She has found neither sex nor her youth much of a handicap in supervising men engineers senior to her.

"They don't resent me," she said. "In engineering work, what determines how a thing gets done is whether it is right or wrong. Whether a girl says it or a man makes no difference."

"Girls with the right training and the right attitude toward their work can do as well as men. There is a certain amount of prejudice against them still, but most of it can be overcome by showing you can do the work."

"That is the only solution I know of. A girl can't do it by charm alone."

It bothers her occasionally that so far most of her career has been spent in developing military weapons.

"But out of all these projects come peaceful uses," she said. "and I hope to see the day when it will be possible for nations to devote at least half the money and effort now going into defense weapons to more peaceful goals."

"My own dream is to find a way to make solar energy available cheaply for the home."

Besides harnessing the sun, Miss Harlam is interested in teaching. She feels that today all engineering and science graduates are duty-bound to do at least some part-time teaching.

"But it has a special responsibility," she said soberly. "In working with machinery if something goes wrong, we can throw it away and start over. It only costs money."

"But if you make a mistake in teaching, you can't throw the child away."

Tito Must Explain Soviet Talks Before US Arms Are Shipped

WASHINGTON (AP)—Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito must give a satisfactory explanation of his confidential talks with Russian leaders before he can get promised American jetwarplanes.

President Eisenhower made this clear last night in authorizing only limited military aid to Yugoslavia "until the situation can be more accurately appraised during the days to come."

Eisenhower specifically banned delivery, for the present at least, of more than 200 American Sabre Jet and Thunderjet fighters, previously earmarked for Yugoslavia along with howitzers, tanks and other heavy military equipment.

At the same time, he declared Tito's government eligible for full economic aid which has helped prop up Yugoslavia since it broke with Moscow in 1948. But he qualified even this by noting pointedly this decision would be reviewed constantly to make certain it "remains justified in future circumstances."

Sedalian Is Member Of MU Debate Team

Laurence Lingle, son of Mrs. Irma Lingle, 906 South Osage, is a member of the Missouri University debating team that will meet a two-man team from Oxford University of England on October 22.

The debaters will argue the proposition, "Resolved: N.A.T.O. has outlived its usefulness." Lingle is a junior in the College of Arts and Science.

Sedalians Go To Regional CAP Meeting

The Sedalia Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol was well represented at Scarap operations in Cape Girardeau the past weekend, with ten members of the Senior group and five Cadets. The annual operational affair of the Missouri Civil Air Patrol Wing was attended by more than 160 Civil Air Patrol personnel.

Saturday night a banquet was held in Cape Girardeau after which the operational problem was presented and evaluated by the USAF-CAP Liaison Staff, with Regional Liaison Officer Col. Lee Shadell, USAF.

Maj. Bill Padgett of the Sedalia Squadron was appointed the Operations Officer and the work and planning then began. Early Sunday, 29 planes of the CAP and members of the CAP participated in the hunt for a fictitious T-33 jet plane which had been reported "crashed" in the lost area.

A dummy had been placed in a tree to represent the missing pilot. Various clues were furnished the Operations as the search continued. By accident a squirrel hunter saw the dummy in a tree and made a report. This report was given the participants in Scarap and the CAP planes soon circled the area. The plane wreckage, however, was never discovered. The problem had been set up to have the wreckage in the bottom of the Mississippi River.

Attending the Scarap operation was Col. V. Phillips, Civil Air Patrol regional commander from Minneapolis, Minn., and several CAP officers from the Iowa Wing who were observers.

Tiger 'B' Team Beat College Hi Of Warrensburg

By VIC VAN DYNE

Tuesday afternoon Smith-Cotton's "B" team defeated Warrensburg College High by a score of 19-6. The Tigers got off to a fumbling start but were able to come back and pour on the pressure.

Warrensburg scored first on a quarterback sneak that went for five yards and a TD. The extra point was missed and Warrensburg jumped to an early lead. Warrensburg kicked off to the Tigers and the Tigers marched down to the six-yard line from where Carl Kasak, the full-back scored. Bobby Garrison ran around end for the extra point.

Sedalia kicked off and was able to hold the College High boys and forced them to kick. The Tigers took over and again scored on a 15-yard run by little Tommy Herick. The extra point was missed and the Tigers led 13-6 at the end of the first half.

In the second half neither team was able to score until the closing minutes when Tommy Herick scooted around right end for eight yards and the third touchdown. The final score was 19-6 with the Tigers on the long end.

Restrictions Placed On Potato Import For Rest of Season

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has imposed restrictions on imports of potatoes for the remainder of the 1956-crop marketing season.

Under an import regulation issued yesterday by the Agriculture Department, potatoes for food purposes may be imported only if they meet minimum grade and size requirements comparable to those set up in marketing orders regulating the sale of potatoes grown in this country.

A similar regulation was in effect last season. Most of the potatoes imported come from Canada, but the quantity has been small in relation to total American consumption. The regulation does not restrict the importation of certified seed potatoes.

Oil Queen Is Speaker At Optimists

The Oil Progress Queen, Miss Marjory Cummins, with all the charm and beauty of a queen, appeared before the Optimist Club Tuesday noon clothed in petroleum products from head to toe, or maybe it should be head to heel, for she mentioned that even her shoes were from oil products—the heels were of rubber.

Marjory, a lovely brunette, wore a black dress of nylon velvet edged with white dacron nylon lace. Nylon and dacron, of course, are products of oil. Even her black velvet hat with its edge of shining feathers was from oil. The feathers were real, all right, but the iridescent coloring was brought out in them by the petroleum treatment. The lipstick and rouge, too, said Marjory, had an oil base.

Cecil Owen, who accompanied the queen to the club, told the group that this is Oil Progress Week, and Marjory had been chosen queen at the contest held last week sponsored by the Central Missouri Oil Men's Club which is composed of oilmen in a radius of 60 miles.

In 4,000 B.C. mortar was made from petroleum and in 1,000 B.C. the Chinese used petroleum for lighting, Owen said, and he went on to tell of its many uses in modern living. It takes from $80,000 to $1,000,000 to drill a well and even today, with all the wonderful equipment that has been discovered, there are two dry holes in every nine wells drilled.

With the new type of equipment, however, he said, they have gone back to old wells that had stopped producing and have found they produced even more oil than before. The rehabilitation of the oil wells, he said, is one of the greatest things the oil men have ever done.

Program chairman for the day was Dr. D. K. Kirby.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. C. H. Blaich, with invocation by Maurice Hogan. Singing was led by Charles Hanna with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

A short talk was made by Jay Lazerson, chairman of the project to select the man and the woman who have done the most for youth in Pettis County.

Storm Moves North Along Coastline; Threatens Low Areas

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A big autumn storm that took a water swipe at Florida rolled northward up the coastline today, harrying shipping and threatening low-lying areas with flooding.

It killed two persons in Florida, flooded at least four towns and caused heavy crop losses.

The storm was centered about 110 miles off the Georgia coastline and its winds of 30 to 40 miles an hour were being felt from Florida to the Maryland shore.

It was moving northeast at 13 miles an hour and the center is expected to arrive at Cape Hatteras, N.C., this afternoon.

Storm warnings were up from Brunswick, Ga., to Atlantic City, N.J.

"Seas will be extremely rough," the Weather Bureau said. Heavy rains were falling on the coastal areas ahead and to the west of the center.

Music Clubs Federation Meets Here

The state board of the Missouri Federation of Music Clubs began its two-day meeting with a dinner at the Heard Memorial Club House Tuesday evening. Members of the Helen G. Steele Music Club joined the board for the dinner and program, after which they were excused so that the board might continue into the opening business session. The dinner was attended by 82 members of the Federation.

Mrs. E. F. Yancey, life president of the Helen G. Steele Music Club and state chairman of music at the State Fair, welcomed the guests from over the state and invocation was given by Mrs. Tyree G. Newbill, Kansas City, president of the Southwest District, of the National Federation of Garden Clubs.

Mrs. Harry A. Spradling, Carthage, president of the Missouri Federation of Music Clubs, was introduced and expressed the happiness of the board to meet in Sedalia. She said that the first state board meeting she had ever attended had been in Sedalia, and she complimented the Helen G. Steele Club on holding high the ideals of the Federation.

Mrs. D. P. Dyer, Sedalia, president of the fifth district, told briefly of the Heard Memorial Club House that so many of the board members seemed to admire. The club house, she said, was a gift of the late Mr. and Mrs. John T. Heard, and Mrs. Heard was formerly president of the fifth district.

Mrs. Al Miles presented a program featuring three outstanding young Sedalia musicians.

The first was Sue Heckart, flutist, a senior in Smith-Cotton High School, who has been studying at the Kansas City Conservatory of Music for the past two years, this year under Donald Peck. Sue played "Andalouse" by Emile Pessard and "Siciliana and Giga" by Handel. The young flutist has won many honors through her music, including a scholarship two years to the Midwest Music Camp at Kansas University. She is a member of the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra. Sue was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Del Heckart.

Susan Schien, young violinist is a junior at Smith-Cotton and is a student of Paul Topper, head of the violin department at Stephens College, Columbia. Susan also received a scholarship this past summer to the Midwest Music Camp, Kansas University, but did not accept it. Instead, she accepted the Missouri All-State Orchestra scholarship to the Music Camp at Missouri University, Columbia. She is a member of the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra. Susan played Schubert's "Serenade" and the first movement of Valdi-Nachez concerto.

Dick Shoemaker, who last year was graduated from Smith-Cotton, and who, from many scholarships offered him, accepted the Kansas City University scholarship, is not only a singer but a talented pianist as well and also plays the bassoon. He is a former vice student of Mrs. A. R. Beach. Dick sang "Total Eclipse" by Handel, "La donna e mobile" by Verdi and, as an encore, "This Day is Mine" by Ware.

Both Susan and Dick were accompanied by Carolyn Crouch.

Mrs. D. P. Dyer and Mrs. C. W. Mathieson, co-chairmen of the social committee of the Helen G. Steele Music Club, and members of their committee were in charge of the arrangements for the dinner, and also for the luncheon held at the Old Missouri Home.

Cornpickers Can Be Tamed

You're cottonpickin' right—these new-fangled cornpickers are as dangerous as they are utilitarian. The National Safety Council says so, according to Maynard H. Coe, director of farm safety.

In its advisory about dangers of this device, the Council has prepared a series of press cartoon releases one of which appears at the bottom of the page. But this approach to the problem is reminiscent of slap-stick comedy. You know the kind in which a pedestrian unexpectedly slips on a banana peel, feet go into air, victim hits the pavement and cracks his sacroiliac. Bystanders double up with laughter. This seems to be an involuntary reflex on the part of human beings, momentarily stirred into laughter before their sympathetic reflex begins functioning.

The farm safety director suggests that these cartoons on cornpickin' safety are "designed to entertain your readers . . . who should get a chuckle or two out of them."

But getting tangled up in a cornpicker isn't an incident which should entertain our readers any more than it should be a laughing matter to the victim. It's downright tragic, a farm worker losing hand, foot or life because of a momentary neglect of safety precautions. Numerous reports of accidents involving cornpickers have occurred recently in the Central Missouri area.

We don't believe the National Safety Council thinks it is a funny matter either. Its director reasons that perhaps a facetious rather than a serious approach to the matter of safety will attract attention and leave more of an indelible impression on the minds of those who operate such machines in the field.

Seriously, most of these accidents are preventable, so if we can help in any manner to prevent them, as Mr. Coe suggests, we're going to try. And that means attempting to alert farm people to the fact that the prevention of accidents is a personal responsibility. Adhering to safety programs on the farm is just as serious business as in a factory.

The cornpickin' season is with us. Farmers are urged to practice the recommended rules for safe operation of these machines. One thing to remember, which the cartoon series emphasizes, is to disengage the PTO before leaving the tractor seat. Every farmer knows what a PTO is. But the city feller at the next desk says he doesn't know—so, a PTO is Power Take-Off. Watch it!

Nothing can be done about the regrettable and tragic accidents that have already occurred in Central Missouri, but these incidents can serve as a warning to others to join in working together toward an accident free corn harvest season this year.

Observing safety rules will tame any vicious mechanical cornpicker.

The World Today—

Ike, Adlai Sound Like Records of Selves

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The longer this campaign lasts the more President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson sound like phonograph records of themselves.

They've been repeating themselves—not only in their attacks, promises, claims and counter-claims—but particularly in some of the words they use.

This might be expected in a campaign and must be due to one of three reasons:

1) They can't think of new words, or (2) they like the old ones so much they can't bear to part with them, or (3) they think using them over and over is good politics.

If this campaign sounds dull—as it does to a lot of people—it may be because the candidates are beginning to make one speech sound pretty much like another.

One of Eisenhower's favorite words is "peace." He works that one overtime, using it in practically every speech. Although he says "peace" isn't an issue in this campaign, he's made it sound like a big one.

It's not hard to guess why.

The President and his advisers probably decided that—since there's no big-scale shooting in the world and the Korean War ended during his administration—it's one of his best selling points. He mentions it in most of his speeches in some way.

Stevenson has basically taken out a copyright on a few words and phrases which he bounces off the Republicans every chance he gets.

With these words, sometimes rearranged in new combinations, he accused the Republicans of "complicity" and "political cynicism" and of being "stalled on dead center." He says they are "smug" and put up "stubborn opposition to new ideas."

While he says the Republicans haven't kept their 1952 campaign promises—in those words—he sometimes gives them a rest by jazzing up the same idea with a little color, such as saying the Republican promises are "checks that bounce."

Eisenhower is a great man for "facts" and "honesty" and telling "the truth." Those words prowl through his speeches as regularly as a night watchman making his rounds and punching a time clock.

Stevenson—perhaps because he has talked far more than Eisenhower in this campaign—has a larger vocabulary of standby words and phrases which he pulls out, dusts off, and plays over and over.

One of his specialties: "The Democratic party is the party of the people." This is often a preliminary for him to accuse the Republicans of being "indifferent" to the "little man" and the "little fellow," not to mention the "small business man" and the "small farmer."

He alternately accuses the Republicans of "indifference" and of an "unfeeling attitude."

The phrase which has brought him perhaps the most lively response—at least from Eisenhower—under whose skin it seems to get—is the repeated complaint that the present White House occupant is a "part-time president."

Dr. Jordan Says—

Motorists' Visual Function Encompass Many Factors

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

An interesting article on "Seeing and Safe Driving" has appeared in The Sight-Saving Review. This was written by Leon Brody, the director of research at the Center for Safety Education at New York University.

It is obvious, Brody said, that adequate vision is essential to the safe operation of a motor vehicle. What is strange, however, is that little significant relationship has been found between a driver's visual abilities and his record of safety on the road.

There are, however, good reasons for this because so many factors are involved in automobile accidents. A high rating in one visual function does not mean that the other functions are equally good.

The function of depth perception is extremely important to any automobile driver in all such maneuvers as passing, parking or turning. Unfortunately, there is no good measure of this function.

On the other hand, this visual function is what is known as a "learned skill" and training improves it.

Everyone knows that even when they are looking straight at something they can see other objects, and particularly moving bodies, at the sides. This is known as side or peripheral vision. It varies a good deal from person to person.

This ability to see on the side is of great importance to drivers, particularly at crossings.

In connection with the ability to adapt vision to driving in a dim light, it is important to know that the fatal accident rate per mile of travel is three times as high during the night as during the day. And only one-third of the driving is done at night.

Italian Medals for West Point
WEST POINT, N. Y., (AP)—A collection of 45 Italian awards and decorations has been presented to the U. S. Military Academy.

The idea for the presentation came when Paolo Emilio Taviani, Italian minister of defense, made a tour of the Academy's historical museum last year and noted none of the Italian medals was on display.

The gift includes the highest military award, as well as decorations recognizing the contribution of citizens in peacetime.

Estes Gets Snub In N. Y.; Kennedy Has Eyes On 1960

By DREW PEARSON

The Stevenson high command is still churning with a certain amount of internal dissension. Conflicting orders and crossed wires have continued to bog down the candidate.

Part of Adlai's troubles results from the inhibitions of the scholarly, nonpolitical people around him. Part results from Chicago hangovers, the resentment of such old pros as Carmine de Sapia, head of Tammany Hall, and ex-President Truman. Inside high Democratic circles it's suggested that their real goal is now 1960.

De Sapia and Truman both lost out in their drive to nominate Averell Harriman, and this is blamed for the present bogged-down status of the Democratic campaign in New York.

It's also blamed for the way in which Sen. Estes Kefauver was snubbed when he went into New York State to campaign for the ticket. Though the Republican mayor of Syracuse, Donald Mead, appeared at the Syracuse press club to greet Kefauver, all Democrats were ostentatiously absent. When Ben Wetzel, executive secretary of the New York State Democratic Committee, went to Syracuse to greet Kefauver, Mike Pendergast, Democratic National Committeeman, actually ordered him back home.

There was a complete and deliberate Democratic blackout on the man who had worked with Stevenson to defeat Harriman at Chicago.

Kennedy Looks Toward 1960

Another man who was defeated at Chicago is also shunning the area where he could really win votes—able young Sen. Jack Kennedy of Massachusetts.

After the Chicago convention, Kennedy told Stevenson's campaign manager, Jim Finnegan, that he would campaign. Finnegan asked Kennedy to give him about 10 days to line up various tours and he would then keep him busy.

But in the interim, Kennedy booked his own speaking engagements to help various senators around the country with an eye to 1960. Now he isn't available to speak in his home state, Massachusetts, until the last week before the election. Every political observer in Massachusetts predicts that a hard-hitting campaign by Kennedy could probably swing it to Stevenson, but the young senator who came so close to the vice-presidential nomination seems to be looking ahead to 1960. His father is determined that his son shall be the first Catholic vice-president in history.

Another Democratic hassle developed when Stevenson's Broadway brain trust, including Louis Cowan of $64,000 Question, Alan Jay Lerner of "My Fair Lady," Oscar Hammerstein, author of "Oklahoma," "South Pacific" and other top hits; and Herman Wouk, author of "The Caine Mutiny," proposed that Adlai challenge Eisenhower to a debate. If he refused, then it was proposed that Adlai should challenge the "real President of the United States, Sherman Adams." Or, as an alternative, it was proposed that Stevenson challenge all of the White House triumvirate—Eisenhower, Adams, and Arthur Lawson, under-secretary of Labor and so-called "architect of the new Republican party." But William Wirtz, Stevenson's law partner, voted no. Such a challenge would be ungentlemanly.

Meanwhile the Eisenhower propaganda machine functions with clockwork precision. When the Eisenhower special train left for Cleveland, Jim Hagerty was down at the station practically tucking newsmen into beds.

First he tucked in the President, after making sure photographers got all the shots they wanted—and in the right poses. Then he went the rounds of the train, visiting every newspaperman to discuss inside angles, human interest, and personality stories. For about two hours Jim "confided" to the press.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Wires, discs and tapes on dictating machines give back the exact words that were spoken into the microphones. Occasionally we get back some "gobbledegook" because we have not spoken distinctly or because of a mechanical failure, but generally we hear what we have said.

Frequently we are amazed at the combinations of words which we hear. We have not said what we thought we were saying. Occasionally we do not make sense in our expressions. We find that our word choice is poor, and that we have not finished our sentences. We repeat ourselves and we omit important thoughts.

It is a good idea to listen to ourselves every now and then in order to see what we sound like to other people. When we thus audit our expression we must remember that we have been thinking more carefully than when we are normally conversing. It is no wonder that others do not always understand us.

Most of us need a great deal of practice in expressing ourselves. There is no better guide to self expression than we can find in the Bible.

When the Bible says "go and sin no more" there is little room for misunderstanding. If we express ourselves as clearly as did the writers of the scriptures, we shall be better understood than most of us are today.

Eisenhower's Financial Position

In the 1952 presidential campaign, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, like Gov. Adlai Stevenson, made public his income for the previous ten years. His salary as five-star general of the Army . . . $ 18,761
This was increased after the war to . . . 19,542
(Of which $7,600 would have been tax free.)

His salary as president of Columbia University was . . . 25,000
Reported gross receipts from sale of his book, "Crusade In Europe" . . . 750,000
He paid capital gain tax of 25% on this . . . 187,500
Net earnings after taxes were therefore . . . 562,500

This sum President Eisenhower placed in an irrevocable trust, on which he is now advised only on monthly income. If this now brings him 4%, his income is . . . 22,500
If trust brings him 6%, his income is . . . 33,750

This is in addition to salary as President . . . 100,000
Plus taxable expense fund of . . . 50,000
And non-taxable expense fund of . . . 40,000

The President's net income after taxes is about . . . 100,000

If the President's trust fund capital of $560,000 has shown the same 100 per cent capital gains attributed to Adlai Stevenson's stock holdings since 1952, then the President's private fortune may also be over the $1,000,000 mark.

This does not include the President's Gettysburg farm, variously estimated to have cost from $100,000 to $250,000. Its financing has not been revealed.

US Children's Trick-Treat Gives Bangkok Tots Milk

By EDWARD R. KENNEDY
NEA Special Correspondent
BANGKOK—(NEA)—Spirits and spooks fill the air for American children only one night of the year—on Halloween. In Thailand, children and grown-ups, too, recognize spirits with magical powers every day and night the year round.

Here every home, large or small, sets up a miniature "spirit house" in the garden where flowers and incense are placed to keep the invisible "phiya" happy and on the job of protecting the household.

But the spirit that is paying off in human lives and friendship out here is the spirit of the American Halloween and the United Nations Children's Fund program of "Trick or Treat for UNICEF."

In 1955, the fourth year of the program, youngsters in 6,000 American communities dressed up in traditional Halloween garb and collected gifts in pennies totaling more than half a million dollars.

One night's fun in Pittsburgh raised $9,000. Houston, Tex., children gathered in $1,400 without any trickery to treat the underprivileged children of foreign lands. Pittsburgh thus paid for the entire operation of a pilot project to cure and prevent leprosy in a large area of Thailand. Houston's contributions enabled 140,000 Cambodian children to be vaccinated. Life is cheap out here in Asia, and so is health. The vaccine to protect one child from tuberculosis costs a penny. Penicillin is a nickel for a needleful. Six glasses of healthful reconstituted milk are available to UNICEF for one cent. All of the services are distributed free here.

Malaria, which 10 years ago caused 200,000 deaths a year in Thailand, has been virtually eliminated as a fatal disease here. The United States started the program on direct aid and now UNICEF runs it. Cost of eliminating malaria is 13 cents per person.

The people's appreciation for this type of aid is overwhelming. In scores of settlements all over Thailand, the whole village turns out to greet Americans and say, "Thank you, thank you. Now we can sleep at night."

For malaria control brought with it the elimination of the germ carrying mosquitoes which caused both death and discomfort.

The new Halloween spirit that is spreading such concrete proof of goodwill started with an American Sunday School class in 1950. By 1952 there were almost 500 communities in 30 states participating. Now every state plus Alaska, the District of Columbia, Canal Zone, Hawaii and Cuba are represented.

And the regular little household spirits in countries like Siam can do a much better job because of the cooperation of American Halloween spirits and sprites with a heart.

New Star May End Career For Marriage

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—As if things aren't tough enough for the movies—now it appears that Dana Wynter is serious about ending her film career.

"It would be a pity. Dana's defection would mark the second time in a year that Hollywood has lost out to matrimony with a bright and beautiful new star. The other: Grace Kelly.

Dana (pronounced Daina) is the bride of Hollywood lawyer Greg Bautzer. Because of him, she is willing to give up a career that brought her stardom with her first movie.

"I told Greg when we were married that I was willing to give up my career," she said. "He was very nice about it and told me to do what I thought was best. I do feel that it's not fair to him to try to combine career with marriage."

But what about her studio? She has a contract with 20th Century-Fox.

"That's the difficult part," she sighed. "I hate to disappoint them, because they have been so good to me."

"After Fox tested me, I was signed and starring in 'The View from Pompey's Head' within a month. In my second picture I was co-starring with Robert Taylor. They have been so good to me that I hate to tell them I don't want to work any more."

She hasn't made the break yet.

"I suppose part of the trouble is that I am fundamentally lazy," she said. "My career doesn't mean that much to me; I'd be just as happy not to work."

"What I would like to do is an occasional picture—one that really excites me. The only subject like that I know of now is 'The Nun's Story.' It is a fabulous story and I would love to do it."

Dana is now doing a film that is close to her—"Something of Value." It concerns the efforts to combat the Mau Mau in Kenya, Africa, and Dana was reared in Rhodesia, in southern Africa. Her parents still live there, her father being a noted surgeon.

FOUND TIED TO COUCH—A rope still attached to his left ankle, Jerry Moss, 16-year-old epileptic, sits on the couch to which he was found tied in the four-room house near Fort Worth, Tex., where he lives with 13 brothers and sisters. Sheriff's officers investigated after hearing the boy had been chained in the back yard of the home and whipped. The youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Moss, deny they mistreated their son. Hal Boyle's Column--

Columnist and Author Says Anyone Can Be a Writer

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles Mercer is an unusual author.

Not merely because he has hit the literary jackpot with "Rachel Cade," a best-selling novel that stands to net him some $200,000 when all the returns are in.

What makes Mercer unusual is that he sees no reason why practically anyone who can stand being lonely can't do the same thing.

"Writing does require a certain bent," he said, "but anyone who can tell a suspenseful situation in two pages—even in a letter—can eventually write and sell fiction."

"The difference between those who do and those who don't is largely self-discipline. Writing is an antisocial sport. Many people don't write because they can't stand being lonely. Writing is the loneliest industry on earth."

Mercer, who is a 39-year-old daily radio and television columnist for the Associated Press, married as soon as he left college for a $25 a week job as cub reporter.

Like most newspapermen he dreamed of writing a novel. And also like most newspapermen, he did nothing about it.

During his three-year hitch as an Army lieutenant in World War II his wife, Alma, wrote and sold for $250 a magazine article about the trials and tribulations of a bride in wartime.

"I decided if she could do it, I could," Charlie said. After leaving the service and returning to press association work in 1946, he started writing two hours every night.

"I turned out 20 short stories and a novel, and they were all so bad no publisher would touch them with a 10-foot pole," he recalled.

In 1949 he finally sold a short story for $750 to the Saturday Evening Post. Then he made a big decision.

"I read everything I had written up till then, and decided it was all worthless," Mercer said. "So I took it out to the backyard and burned it—150,000 words on which I'd spent three years."

But he had at last mastered the technique of fiction writing. During a subsequent 21-month hitch in the Army during the Korean War he sold 10 stories and a couple of novelettes. He also later published two novels, "The Narrow Ledge" and "There Comes a Time," the story of a clergyman.

His real bonanza idea came during a trip to the Belgian Congo in 1954 to gather newsfeature stories. Africa had interested Charlie since he was a boy of 11, and he chose it as the locale for "Rachel Cade," a tale about a missionary nurse's search for love and understanding in defying the ancient tribal taboos of the dark continent.

Charlie wrote the novel in a year on weekends in 12-hour Saturday and Sunday sessions at the typewriter. It was an immediate hit. The Literary Guild picked it for its current selection, the Woman's Home Companion bought the serial rights, and RKO snapped it up for the movies. It is being published in three foreign editions, "including the Scandinavian."

Their sudden leap to prosperity has made no difference in the lives of either Alma or Charlie, who plans to continue writing his daily column.

"Before we couldn't afford the house we were living in—and now we can," said Charlie. "That's about the only change. The neighbors seem a bit disappointed that our household hasn't gone in for more glamour, but I don't happen to want a swimming pool or an expensive car."

"Whether a novel makes a pile of money shouldn't be important, and it isn't the most important thing to me. Maybe I shouldn't admit it, but I now actually enjoy writing. It has become a satisfaction in itself."

And Mercer says all that is probably keeping you from writing a successful novel is—you.

Fight Brews At Lutheran Convention

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Hints came today of a brewing fight at the United Lutheran Church convention over a proposed appeal to congregations to take the lead in racial integration.

H. Odell Harman, school superintendent of Lexington, S.C., said he had a detailed indictment to deliver against the move "if I get a chance to give it."

With the convention slated to adjourn today, it still has to act on a committee recommendation that the church back the "fullest realization" of race integration—in church and schools.

The move would condemn any effort at upsetting the public school system to thwart the Supreme Court's ruling on the subject. Some Southern states are acting to authorize a shift to private schools to avert enforcement.

The church, largest Lutheran body in the country, yesterday went on record for applying the spirit—and not the letter—of law in dealing with remarriage of divorced persons.

The church wiped out its arbitrary restrictions against second marriages and ushered in a new policy to gauge each case by broader principles.

Divorce violates God's law, the pronouncement said, but God forgives lawbreakers if they repent. "If God forgives, we also should forgive," declared Dr. Martin J. Heineken of Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, in supporting the less stringent approach to remarriage.

It does away with a 1930 church ryle against remarriage of a divorced person in the church, except if he was the "innocent party" in a divorce granted specifically for adultery or desertion.

Numerous delegates took strong exceptions to the change, which also endorses birth-control for regulating the number of a couple's children in accordance with ability to provide for them.

The Rev. Dr. Taito Kantonen, Springfield, Ohio, said, "Confusion of the law and the Gospel marks this report throughout" and the church should stick to its fixed position on remarriage.

"On a basic moral issues such as this," he said, "the church must uphold the divine standard, not play it down."

Last night, the church also whipped through final action on a towering 25-million-dollar budget for the 1958-59 biennium, two-thirds bigger than the 15 million for 1956-57.

Pressing needs and beckoning fields for expansion were cited in drawing up the heavily increased financial program.

Charlie wrote the novel in a year on weekends in 12-hour Saturday and Sunday sessions at the typewriter. It was an immediate hit. The Literary Guild picked it for its current selection, the Woman's Home Companion bought the serial rights, and RKO snapped it up for the movies. It is being published in three foreign editions, "including the Scandinavian."

Their sudden leap to prosperity has made no difference in the lives of either Alma or Charlie, who plans to continue writing his daily column.

"Before we couldn't afford the house we were living in—and now we can," said Charlie. "That's about the only change. The neighbors seem a bit disappointed that our household hasn't gone in for more glamour, but I don't happen to want a swimming pool or an expensive car."

"Whether a novel makes a pile of money shouldn't be important, and it isn't the most important thing to me. Maybe I shouldn't admit it, but I now actually enjoy writing. It has become a satisfaction in itself."

Georgia Youth Named Star Farmer at FFA Meet in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Wesley H. Patrick, 21, Quitman, Ga., has been named the Star Farmer of America at the Future Farmers of America convention.

A check for $1,000 was given to him last night at a ceremony attended by most of the 10,000 delegates.

Three other FFA members were given $500 checks and awards as Regional Star Farmers. They were Freddy North, 19, Eloy, Ariz.; Larry Lust, 21, Newton, Iowa; and Robert L. Worley, Mercer, Pa.

Patrick bought a 120-acre farm in 1953 for $10,400 while he was a high school senior. He raises cotton, tobacco and watermelons. He places his assets at $28,601 and debts at $11,455.

Two Kansas and two Missouri FFA chapters were among the 53 which won gold emblems in the national chapter contest for achievements. They were Little River and Oberlin in Kansas, and Jasper and Monett in Missouri.

Add some thinly sliced rounds of cooked carrot to that creamed tuna. Different and good.

Police Rout Hundreds From Bed When Fumes Spread Over Area

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Hundreds of people were routed from their beds by police and firemen today as waves of nauseous, irritating ammonia fumes spread over several blocks two miles from the center of the business section.

The sickening fumes came from a leaking 15,000-gallon tank at the 2nd Avenue plant of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. Police and firemen wearing gas masks went from house to house warning residents not to go to sleep and to be ready for evacuation. There was no panic and no one suffered serious effects.

More than 100 police and firemen were called to the scene. The Soho district was the most seriously affected. But the fumes spread to several other sections before two Jones and Laughlin employees—wearing gas masks and rubberized clothing—shut off two main valves on the tank. Police banned all traffic on several streets surrounding the area. Firemen played streams of water on the escaping ammonia in an effort to neutralize it. It poured over the scene like a white fog.

"It was pretty rough for awhile," said Battalion Chief John McKeown. "We couldn't get within two blocks of that stuff without a mask."

Mighty Atlas On Mat Card Next Tuesday

The parade of the nation's greatest pro-wrestlers will continue at Sedalia's Armory and heading the parade for next Tuesday night's card is Hollywood's Mighty Atlas, reputed to be the strongest pro athlete in the world.

Atlas has become the most sensational heavyweight to appear in nationally televised matches out of Chicago's famous Marigold Arena this year. His tremendous strength and feats of almost superhuman power have awed millions of TV viewers.

Called the modern-day Hercules, Mighty Atlas has a standing offer that he will pay $1,000 if he refuses to meet any wrestler in the world.

In his customary, arrogant manner, Atlas affixed his signature to an open contract which permits Legion Matchmaker Gust Karras to sign any opponent of his choosing to pit against the Hollywood strong man.

Karras let the word out that Atlas would meet all comers and the first man to step up and challenge the Mighty One is Missouri's own Gentleman Jim Dobie, who has become a great favorite among the Sedalia area sports fans.

Dobie personally asked for the first crack at Atlas and Matchmaker Karras accepted Gentleman Jim's bid.

"Dobie is an outstanding athlete and a great scientific wrestler," the matchmaker commented. "He's an excellent contestant to match against Atlas."

Another "first" for the Sedalia ring next Tuesday is the first mid-gate tag team match ever held in the Armory. Four of the pint-sized mat wizards are scheduled to compete in the team skirmish with Pee-Wee James and Tom Thumb serving as the rival team captains.

Tom Thumb will have Tiny Roe as his partner, while Pee-Wee has selected the Brown Panther as his teammate. The Panther is the only negro midget wrestler in the ring today.

The midgets, known as the "mighty mites of matdom," are great crowd pleasers and their unpredictable ring antics always seem to furnish the fans with a full measure of spills and thrills.

The midgets are truly outstanding athletes in their own class. Averaging between 40 and 48 inches in height and weighing in the neighborhood of 80 pounds, the pint-sized wrestlers are exceptionally fast-paced contestants and they can execute every hold known to wrestling.

Woody Strode, the Los Angeles negro heavyweight sensation, returns to action in Monday's opening event and will tackle Cincinnati's Al Szasz, who is one of the most fleet-footed battlers ever to emerge from the Middle Atlantic states.

Tickets for Tuesday night's matches are now on sale at the Midway Shoe Repair shop and the Pacific Cafe. No increase in admission prices.

Mickey Mantle Wins League Batting Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle won the American League slugging championship in 1956 with the highest average in 15 years. The New York Yankees' star center fielder piled up 376 total bases in 533 times at bat for a .705 mark.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press today also revealed Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers was the National League's pacesetter. He edged Milwaukee's Joe Adcock—598 to 597.

The titles were the second for both Mantle and Snider. Mantle, who also led the junior circuit in batting, runs batted in and home runs, numbered 79 extra-base hits among his 188 safeties last season. In addition to his 52 four-baggers, the 24-year-old switch-hitter had 22 doubles and 5 triples.

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, runner-up to Mantle with a .603 average, was the last player to have a better than .705 slugging mark. He finished with .735 in 1941.

Yogi Berra of the Yankees and Charley Maxwell of Detroit wound up in a third-place deadlock the past season. Both showed .534 marks.

Snider, the National League's leader in home runs with 43, also cracked 33 doubles and a pair of three-baggers among 158 hits for 324 total bases.

Coach Says Strings Don't Mean a Thing

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—"Strings don't mean a thing in team athletics," coach Bud Wilkinson said today as he brushed aside all the remarkable football achievements of his No. 1 rated Sooners.

"Certainly we have a string of 33 victories, but remember that nine of those were made by the 1953 team and there's not one player who is on this year's squad," he said.

"Only in individual sports does a string mean anything. In team sports, it takes everyone working together."

Every time Oklahoma wins a football game now, it sets several new records.

The Sooners, who haven't lost a contest since early in 1953, can set a new modern victory record of 34 games by beating Kansas Saturday.

They have scored in 109 successive games and have gone 54 Big Seven Conference contests without a setback.

Wilkinson, always on the gloomy side of the gridiron, points out that Kansas was the last Big Seven team to beat the Sooners and he isn't taking this Saturday's clash at Lawrence lightly. It was back in 1946 that Kansas whipped Oklahoma 16-13.

Oklahoma partisans now are chanting for a new record—blanking opponents.

So far this year, Oklahoma has shut out its first three opponents and for regular season play the string is seven.

The modern major record for being unscored upon is 15 straight games set by Tennessee and snapped in the Rose Bowl game of 1940. Incidentally, Oklahoma was one of the victims, being blanked in the Orange Bowl by Tennessee 17-0 in 1939.

Wilkinson has no thoughts of coming near that record.

"I have no doubt Kansas will score on us Saturday," he said earnestly. "We'll be happy to win by one point."

Oklahoma Man Is Named Top Football Back

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tommy McDonald, Oklahoma's nimble split-T halfback who specializes in the option play, has taken a long step toward repeating as a member of the All America team.

The 170-pound speedster from Albuquerque, N.M., was chosen Back of the Week in the first such 1956 poll of sports writers and broadcasters conducted by The Associated Press.

McDonald was the principal instrument in the 45-0 rout of Texas last Saturday at Dallas. He scored three touchdowns, tying with a teammate Clendon Thomas in the point-making department.

He scored one touchdown on a 44-yard run and a second on a 53-yard pass play, on which he caught a 35-yard heave and ran an additional 18 yards. The third score was made from four yards out on a plunge.

In all, McDonald gained 160 of his team's 369 yards on the ground. In addition, he caught two passes for 61 yards, returned a kickoff 54 yards and passed 27 yards once to set up a fourth touchdown. He had a 47-yard run canceled by a penalty.

McDonald had to beat out a collection of top-flight backs, including Jim Brown of Syracuse, Ken Wineberg of Texas Christian and John Call of Colgate.

Here Are This Week's Picks Of Winners

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Eight of 11 selections involving Southern college football teams were wrong last week. In all, there were 30 correct guesses and 13 wrong ones for an average of .698. That makes the season's total 134 right and 39 wrong for .787.

Here are this week's winners—after a menu well spiced with hominy grits and corn pone:

Oklahoma over Kansas: The Sooners' No. 1 position is being threatened. That will be Kansas' woe Saturday.

Michigan State over Notre Dame: Notre Dame's sophomores to get a liberal education watching Michigan State halfbacks Clarence Peaks and Walt Kowalczyk operate.

Georgia Tech over Auburn: The way Auburn handled Kentucky last week was a surprise. This time the Plainsmen will get the surprise.

Mississippi over Tulane: A neighborhood argument that likely will be decided by Paige Cothren's efforts in the Rebel backfield.

Michigan over Northwestern: It simply isn't in the cards for the Wildcats to claw their way to victory in this one.

Southern California over Washington: The Trojans have had a lot of trouble during the past year, including a 7-0 setback by Washington in 1955. USC gets revenge this time.

Ohio State over Penn State: Day by day, in every way, the Buckeyes get better and better.

Iowa over Hawaii: Victory No. 4 for the Iowans.

Syracuse over Army: The Cadets will be grateful that there are not 11 Jim Browns.

Skipping over the others in a hurry: FRIDAY NIGHT

George Washington over Virginia Military, Denver over Colorado College.

SATURDAY

EAST: Villanova over Boston University, Harvard over Columbia, Dartmouth over Holy Cross, Navy over Cincinnati, Brown over Penn, Virginia over Lehigh, Colgate over Princeton, Boston College over Rutgers, Yale over Cornell.

MIDWEST: Dayton over North Carolina State, Tulsa over Detroit, Colorado over Iowa State, Missouri over Kansas State, College of Pacific over Marquette, Illinois over Minnesota, Nebraska over Indiana, Houston over Oklahoma.

WEST: UCLA over California, Montana over Brigham Young, Arizona over New Mexico, Stanford over Oregon, Utah State over Colorado A&M, Oregon State over Washington State, Wyoming over Utah.

Says Red Sox Will Announce Contract When Williams Signs

BOSTON (AP)—A report that Ted Williams signed a two-year contract last winter and is all set to play another season with the Boston Red Sox drew only terse comment today from club officials.

"We'll announce it when he signs," a Red Sox spokesman said. Boston Daily Record columnist Dave Egan said he learned Williams signed a two-year contract before the 1956 season "from a responsible source who is close to the great man, but has no affiliations with the ball club."

"The Red Sox did not proclaim the signing of the two-year contract possibly because they wanted two harvests of headline hay instead of one," Egan said in his column.

S-C Frosh Lose To Jays 14-6 At Jefferson City

The Jefferson City Jays' freshman team struck for touchdowns in the first and fourth quarters Tuesday to defeat the Sedalia Smith-Cotton freshmen, 14-6, at Public School Stadium in Jefferson City.

Fullback Jim Taylor streaked 58 yards off tackle early in the game to give the Jays a lead they never relinquished. Quarterback Keith Weber sneaked for the extra point.

In the fourth quarter halfback Rowland Jones circled left end for eight yards and a touchdown. Weber passed to Ronnie Cole for the extra point.

Sedalia scored its touchdown on the first play of the second quarter when Loy Holman passed 55 yards to end Bob Vedder.

A&M, Wichita over Drake, Wisconsin over Purdue.

People Enjoy Old Movies On Television

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—In this current week 142 old motion pictures are being shown by seven television stations in the New York metropolitan area. Home viewers can watch movies on one or another channel continuously every day from 9 a.m. until 1:30 a.m.

This is typical of TV programming in every section of the country these days.

The release of large numbers of folks to television is often discussed from the aspect of the film and TV industries. But what, if anything, has been the effect on the viewer?

For some time we've been questioning and listening to listening to numerous viewers on this subject of old films. One's conclusion perhaps sounds obvious, yet it is worthy of emphasis.

People watch and enjoy films, no matter how old, which were good films at the time of their release. Thus, currently in the New York area, you hear expressions of pleasure at seeing Charles Laughton in "The Private Life of Henry VIII," which was released in 1933, and Lloyd Nolan in "The House on 92nd Street," released in 1945.

On the other hand, no one seems to have sat with such turkeys as Slim Summerville in "I'm from Arkansas" and all the bad ones which inevitably are found in a group of 142 films — or 142 of anything else.

Well, Hollywood and English studios say that the only practicable method of releasing old films to television is by locks or packages. TV stations have to purchase in that form or not at all—and many have decided that showing old films is the only practicable method of filling all the programming hours in a week and obtaining essential advertising revenues.

It is, in short, good and practicable business. But good business can be a far cry from good entertainment. It is a strange situation indeed where a regular TV program of old films can include some of the best and the absolutely worst in the way of home screen entertainment.

Who's going to do anything about it? Not the film studios, because they have a profitable deal whereby their worst products command the same prices as their best. Not the TV stations because with rare exceptions, they are unable to buy selectively picture by picture, but must settle for packages.

Obviously when the business offices either do not know or do not care about is the fact that the public already is doing something about it. For the public is not captive, it is a great variety of selective human beings. One thing business offices should remember: each human being comes equipped with eyes and ears and a wrist ready to turn a dial on a TV set.

Marine General Won't Lift Ban on Families With Corps Members

SEOUL (AP)—The boss of the U.S. Marines declared today he has no intention of lifting his service's ban against its members' having their families with them overseas.

But Gen. Randolph Pate, the Marine commandant, said he had no objections to Marine dependents who went to Japan as "private visitors."

Pate, on a worldwide tour of Marine posts, leaves tomorrow for Japan. There, some 250 Marine wives have been complaining that their husbands have been threatened with "continuous transfers" unless their families return to the United States within 30 days.

The Marine husbands in Japan, most of them attached to the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing, brought their families to the Far East at their own expense. Although the women claim they came as private citizens and tourists, most have obtained new visas identifying them as dependents of American servicemen. They also receive the post exchange and commissary privileges accorded all military dependents.

It takes a GIANT to build a business...

a $575,000,000 business!

"Newspaper advertising has built our business." So spoke H. V. McNamara, president of the National Tea Company, America's fifth largest food chain. In a recent address to the members of the Illinois Daily Newspaper Markets, Mr. McNamara made it clear that, "newspaper advertising has been the greatest contributing factor in our sales increase ... from $99,000,000 in 1944 to $575,000,000 in 1955."

Newspapers Get Results

"Newspaper advertising, both national and local, brings results, the kind of results you can measure on the cash register, or in stock movement, actual sales results, not next week, not next year, but as soon as the newspaper hits the streets. That's real ACTION ADVERTISING. That's the kind of impact that gets results—and that's the kind of advertising in which we like to invest our money."

Two-Thirds For "Action" Advertising

Since 1944 the National Tea Company has spent over $30,000,000 for advertising and sales promotion ... and at least 66% per cent of these advertising dollars has been invested in the daily newspaper. "Until someone invents another medium that will do a better job of delivery of our advertising wrapped up in a fast reading package of news, pictures, and interesting, educational features, that will get deeper and more dominant home penetration than the daily newspaper, I will continue to recommend ... that we earmark at least two-thirds of all of our advertising dollars for newspapers. Newspaper advertising is ACTION ADVERTISING that drives home the impact to get immediate results."

Nothing Sells Like Newspapers

Advertisers in every field share Mr. McNamara's views. They know that building sales in today's competitive market is a job for a giant ... a job for newspapers. That's why in 1955, all advertisers invested $3,087,800,000 in newspapers, more than was spent in radio, TV, magazines and outdoor combined. Put the giant to work building sales for you.

All business is local... and so are all newspapers.

There Is Almost Nothing That Works So Hard For So Little Cost As A Want Ad.

Actress Jeff Donnell Wins Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES (P) — Aldo Ray suggested a divorce almost every week during their two-year marriage, testified actress Jeff Donnell in winning an uncontested divorce from the husky, gravel-voiced actor.
Miss Donnell also told Superior Court Judge Edwin L. Jefferson yesterday that Ray declared he wasn't "the marrying kind," although that was the name of a movie in which he starred.
She waived alimony but, under a property settlement, retained title to their Sherman Oaks home.

There Was No Panic— Crew, Passengers in Ditched Plane Tell of Experience

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—“With the help of God, we knew we were going to get through all right,” Mrs. Jane Gordon of Silver Spring, Md., said last night on a radio broadcast from the Coast Guard cutter Pontchartrain to San Francisco.

Mrs. Gordon was one of the 31 persons — 24 passengers and 7 crewmen — on the Pan American Stratocruiser, Sovereign of the Skies, which ditched in mid-Pacific yesterday.

She said everyone was “very nervous, inwardly” at the beginning of the five hours the crippled airliner circled over the ocean waiting for dawn to ditch beside the cutter.

Capt. Richard Ogg, the pilot, said:

“We had a certain job to do, and it had to be done just right, or else . . .” Ogg spoke on a ship-to-shore broadcast set up by the Coast Guard.

Cmdr. William K. Earle, captain of the Pontchartrain, expressed the “greatest pride” in the rescue. Every one of the 31 persons on the plane was put aboard the cutter within 21 minutes after the ditching 1,045 miles from San Francisco.

Earle particularly praised Machinists Mate 2.C. Ronald Christian from Los Angeles. After the plane’s personnel had been picked up from the life rafts, Christian entered the sinking ship to be sure that no one had been left behind.

The ditching operation took place on a carpet of fire extinguisher foam laid down by the cutter. The foam helped smooth the sea, gave the pilot a better sighting strip on which to land and reduced fire hazard. As an additional precaution, flight engineer Frank Garcia flooded the two inboard wing compartments, housing the engines still operating, with extinguisher foam just at the moment of landing.

The plane’s two outboard engines had failed just after the Stratocruiser passed over the Pontchartrain, on duty at Station November as a weather observation ship, and just past “the point of no return” on the 2,400-mile flight from Honolulu to San Francisco.

“We had mechanical difficulties,” Ogg explained, “and lost altitude down to where we had guest speaker. The church is located 15 miles southeast of Sedalia on ZZ.”

Both Ogg and Earle praised the conduct of the passengers. Ogg reported there was “no panic.” The entire operation of abandoning the plane took only five minutes.

“We have the situation well in hand, the Coast Guard is ready and the ocean is smooth,” Ogg reassured his passengers before ditching.

The smoothness of the operation and the lack of panic was credited by the passengers to Ogg’s assurance and the smooth functioning of his crew.

Rival Dock Unions Wage Ballot Contest At New York Port

NEW YORK (AP)—Two rival dock unions waged a ballot-box contest today for the third time in three years.

The prize at stake was the right to represent the 22,000 longshoremen and other waterfront workers in the Port of New York, the nation’s largest.

The fight was between the incumbent International Longshoremen’s Assn. (ILA) and the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Longshoremen (IBL).

For the third time the election was conducted by the National Labor Relations Board. The IBL initiated the new test of strength.

The independent ILA, which was kicked out of the AFL three years ago for failure to rid itself of racket elements, won close victories in the two previous elections. After expelling the ILA, now 64 years old, the AFL set up the IBL as a rival to contest for dock control.

Although there was no indication of violence, 5,000 uniformed police and detectives were ordered on election duty to cope with any possible interference with voters.

New Navy Seaplane Makes First Flight

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—The Navy’s new turbo-prop seaplane, Indian Ocean Tradewind, made its first trans-Pacific flight, landing at Honolulu yesterday 8 hours and 15 minutes after leaving Alameda Naval Air Station.

The Navy said the giant Convair-built seaplane lifted from San Francisco Bay at 9:07 a.m. with Lt. Cmdr. Charles E. Feiock, 35, of San Lorenzo, Calif., at the controls.

Ike Enters Washington State Today

SEATTLE (AP)—President Eisenhower turned his campaign today to the battle for Washington state’s nine electoral votes with an aide picturing him as optimistic about his chances for carrying Minnesota.

The President’s big pitch for the Washington vote comes tonight in an address at a rally at Civic Auditorium here. He will be plugging too for election of Republican Gov. Arthur B. Langlie to the U. S. Senate, who is running against Sen. Warren Magnuson.

Eisenhower arrived in Seattle late yesterday after being greeted by huge, enthusiastic crowds in Minneapolis, where he spoke in downtown Minneapolis and St. Paul. Newsmen who have traveled with the President throughout his campaign figured the turnout as the largest so far.

Asst. Police Chief Frank Schmidt estimated 250,000 to 300,000 saw the President in St. Paul and along the way. Acting Police Chief Elmer Norlund put the Minneapolis crowd at an over-all 200,000. There probably was some overlapping in the estimate.

Here in Seattle, the crowds along the route from the airport were thinner than in the Twin Cities, but jam-packed around the Hotel Olympic, where the President and Mrs. Eisenhower are staying.

Word that Eisenhower is optimistic about his chances for winning Minnesota’s 11 electoral votes came from White House press secretary James C. Hagerty.

“The reports we got in Minnesota indicate the President again will carry the state,” Hagerty told newsmen.

Ike’s Rival Talks About Money Sstem

EDMONDS, Wash. (AP)—While President Eisenhower drew the fanfare in these parts today, one of his rivals for the presidency kept right on talking from behind a grocery counter about money—lots of it.

Frederick C. Proehl was behind the rural crossroads counter, about 20 miles north of President Eisenhower’s hotel suite in Seattle, because it is where he makes his living. He gets out from behind it often enough to make a few speeches for the Greenback party, because “that’s been my hobby for 30 years, but I’m really not doing much campaigning outside the neighborhood.”

Like Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson, the 76-year-old country merchant is making his second race for the presidency. Unlike them, he doesn’t know how many votes he got last time. He won’t predict how many he might get in November; “I’m doing it for the principle.”

Any votes for him will have to be written in. The Greenback party is not on the ballot. Proehl (pronounced Prayle) was nominated by referendum last December. His running mate is Edward Kirby Meador, who has a printing firm in Boston.

Conventions would have been required to put the Greenbackers on the ballots in the various states and, says Proehl, “we can’t afford ‘em.”

The Greenbackers platform, in brief, the presidential candidate explains, is for the government to issue currency freely to meet its operating costs and to finance such projects as power dams. “Congress abdicated its power to coin money, as provided in the Constitution,” he declares. “The bankers do it and charge us interest on the money we, the people, have given them for nothing. It’s unbelievable.” He contends the nation is “under a financial dictatorship of the bankers.”
